To the Bluffton Police Department and staff

I would like to make a brief statement in regards to the difficult situation law enforcement finds itself recently.

After watching constantly on TV what has become an outright vendetta against the men and women in blue who have sworn to protect us regardless of the risks. I felt the need to show a small token of appreciation should be given. As Bluffton has become my new hometown you are my police force and I would like to let you all know I stand 100% behind you!!

I moved to Bluffton about 2 years ago from NJ. I worked in NY as a commodity trader in the World Trade Center and the New York Mercantile Exchange. I was in the towers in 1993 when a bomb was planted in the garage below in an attempt to take down the towers. I remember leaving the exchange in a rush of people going out the doors as police and emergency personnel went in. Fortunately for me I was at home during 911 but watched everything transpire on tv. Once again our finest were going into the building as people were trying to run away from it. I lost over 50 co-workers and friends that tragic day. But what haunts me to this day is the 1st responders running into building not knowing that it would be their last day alive as most were killed in the collapse. Notably these events were caused by foreign terrorists.

What I have recently concluded is that domestic terrorists are amongst us and growing. There is a total disregard for the rule of law. These thug protesters and movements are a farce an excuse to become unlawful and make their own set of rules without care.

My father god bless him always instilled values in me respect is earned not given. Respect the police because one day you yourself may need their help. I have always respected law enforcement because they have earned it. The disrespect of law enforcement is saddening. Excuse my language here. But the politically correct BS is hurting our country greatly. So I say you (The Bluffton Police Department). Hold your heads high and stay strong there are a lot more people standing with you than against you. One final thought. I believe there are 3 main "rules" all Americans should abide by.

#1- Don't break the laws

#2- Have respect for law enforcement

#3- Comply with instructions from law enforcement

If everyone would adhere to these three simple "rules" it would be a win win for all.

Thank You All

God Bless and Stay Safe
